This could be as shown in Figure 1. The Broker pattern is appropriate for the first step, since all suppliers are polled to find their capabilities to fulfil the order, then Router is used to make a choice of one service according to the business rule.

Figure 1: Web service architecture for order system